Tow Boat Co. Head Held as Smuggler

YESTERDAY, flying Chinese fighters of General Chang were bombing the Great Wall of China. Can you imagine the amazement of the old emperor that kept his hundreds of thousands of men working on the wall if he could come back and see T. N. T. from the sky blowing out whole sections of it?

Our naval officers that want to build battleships instead of fighting flying machines should be sent to look at that fight in China.

CALIFORNIANS observe that what one Chinese general does to another in China, a whole lot of Asiatic generals might do to the people of the United States.

We should have a flying machine fleet as big as all the flying fleets of the rest of the world combined. If we can afford to own more automobiles than the rest of the world owns, twice over, we can afford protection in the air to enjoy our automobiles.

MONEY TALKS, and at present it is talking on politics in a way that big money won't like. Not long since you could have got 100 to 1 against La Follette being elected. Now the odds are cut from 8 to 1 to 6 to 1.

THE PRINCIPALITY of Monaco, tiny country on the edge of the Mediterranean, so small that you can easily walk around it by "the upper road," home of the great Monte Carlo gambling house, wants to enter the League of Nations. The league says, "You are too small."

THAT'S PROBABLY a good reason. Every time the league invites this country to come in the United States should answer, "No, thanks, we are too big." A league that doesn't want a very small country, because it wouldn't be of much use, should not include the biggest of all countries—which might be made too useful to the others.

THE PRINCE OF WALES sold seven ponies at auction yesterday for $10,000. Will Rogers, able "philosopher-comedian," got a bargain. He bought his pony for $2,100, and will get at least $210,000 worth of free advertising out of it.

The others didn't get quite such good bargains.

PAUL M. WARBURG says "Europe has turned the corner." He believes the proposed loan to Germany will be a success. Everybody here hopes it will.

But, there should be no grand scheme to persuade little people to put their savings into foreign bonds of any kind.

IF BIG FINANCIERS feel that it will be good for the world to help Germany, let THEM help Germany.

UNLOADING European bonds on small American investors, with a rakeoff for the financiers now, and all future loss for the little investors, isn't a good idea.

THE FOOLISH YOUNG MAN who was once Crown Prince of Germany now quotes poetry to express his conviction that the German crown is lost to his family forever.

The poet that he ought to quote is Schiller, who wrote:

Gegen dummheit, kaempfer, goettler selbst vergebenst.

That means, "Against stupidity the gods themselves fight in vain."

GOVERNOR TEMPLETON, of Connecticut, tells the Kiwanis Club, of Waterbury, "I can lick any man my age and weight in the country." That's perhaps true, and once it would have been important. It isn't now.

MILDRED G. LEATHER

Everett girl was to have been bride, but ushers announced to guests at church that there would be no wedding.

GIRL'S ROMANCE GOES TO SMASH ONCE MORE

A few years ago, pretty Mildred Leather of No. 78 School street, Everett, amazed her friends by suddenly breaking her engagement with her fiance, Herman Brown.

Today those same friends are even more amazed to learn that at the hour set for her marriage to Fred C. Galley, in the First Baptist Church, the wedding guests were sent home because of the absence of the bridegroom-to-be.

The church was decorated, the minister was ready, the bride's home was filled with expensive presents and the guests were thronging to the church when Miss Leather's mother in tears told the ushers to announce that the ceremony was off.

Galley, for the past two years a student at Tufts Engineering School and holder of a responsible position with the Edison Illuminating Company in Boston, has dropped from sight. The bride-to-be is ill with grief at her home.

The first intimation that anything was wrong came Wednesday night when Galley failed to show up for a rehearsal of the ceremony, but it was not until Miss Leather received a letter from him on the wedding day that she knew he had changed his mind. Some efforts were made to notify invited guests that there would be no wedding, but more than half of them, not to mention the minister, were left waiting at the church.

Miss Leather and Galley had been constantly in each other's company since they met two years ago. She

RAIN AS FLIERS GET READY TO GO TO TEXAS

Muskogee, Okla., Sept. 19.—It was raining early today, and reports indicated rain and electrical disturbances almost to the Texas line. It was considered probable that the fliers would delay their Dallas hop.

The flight through the Southwest is attracting thousands of people at every city and hamlet where the biedmen pass. It was a colorful crowd that greeted Lieutenant Lowell H. Smith, flight commander, and his detail when Muskogee was reached.

Lieutenant Smith declared that the rain, which was continuing at 8 o'clock, probably would delay the hop-off until afternoon.

BURGLARS LOOT FIVE SOMERVILLE STORES

Five stores in Somerville were broken into and robbed during the night. Entrance was gained in each case by either forcing or breaking a window. The restaurant of Daniel Lotty, No. 2 College avenue, was ransacked, cash was taken from the stores of William J. Wiley, Holland street; Lilla W. West, 318 Highland avenue, and the lunchroom of Charles Taffolos, No. 162 Broadway. The safe in the Somerville Sales and Service Company was broken into, but it is not stated how much was removed.

WOMAN KILLED IN AUTO 'PARTY'

HELD AS PHANTOM SMUGGLER

Doane, Towboat Head, Is Reported Owner of Seized Alcohol Craft

Nathaniel J. Doane of Wakefield, member of an old and respected New England family and one of the biggest shipping men in Boston, walked into the United States marshal's office this afternoon and surrendered himself.

Thirty minutes later he was ordered held in $5,000 for the Federal Grand Jury. Lawyers departed to raise the surety.

Doane is head of the Trident Towboat Company, which he organized recently.

It is the contention of the United States that the Trident Towboat Company is the owner of the sea-going power boat S. C. Hart, which was captured in Boston Harbor Wednesday morning by the customs cruiser Dreamer, in command of Thomas F. Finnegan, and manned by special duty men of the customs squad.

ALCOHOL SEIZED.

Five thousand gallons of alcohol and other spirits were found aboard the S. C. Hart, which was promptly confiscated.

Bought for weeks by the customs men as one of the fastest Canadian boats plying between the rum fleet at the 12-mile limit, and the Massachusetts shore, the Hart was taken only after an exciting chase.

She was painted a deep green and was known as the "phantom rumship."

Dodging and backing, she ultimately was cornered and forced in toward T Wharf.

As she approached the wharf, at low speed, the captain, the chief engineer and a third man, described as the supercargo or "bankroll man," jumped to the landing and ran off.

The chief engineer was not fast enough, and was caught among the fish boxes on the Eastern Packet Pier.

CAPTAIN ESCAPED.

The captain and the other man escaped. It was understood in the Federal building today that the government charges that Doane was the other man.

The name of the captain, who is still at large, has been disclosed. He was not the regular skipper.

Mr. Doane is a man of middle age. Until two years ago he was head of the Doane Towboat Company, one of the biggest in the country. He was the third of his name to own the concern, which dated back to

GIRL FOILS KIDNAPERS BY LEAP

Jumps From Auto in Peabody After Putting Up Fight With Three Men

Peabody, Sept. 19.—Declining the invitation of three sleek young men to enter a red roadster car and go for a little drive, one of the prettiest girls in the Russian colony was kidnaped on North Central street, on her way home from a movie show.

The girl is Jessie Dunkovitch, eighteen years old. She was only a few yards from her home at No. 30 North Central street when she was abducted.

As she was dragged into the machine she started to scream and to fight, and continued to do both.

A mile and a half away, as the machine was passing the home of Police Inspector Pierce, the inspector heard her cries and ran to the street.

He ran along beside the car for a few yards, and the girl, taking advantage of the consternation of her kidnapers, managed to clamber to the running board and jump into the road.

ESCAPE PURSUIT.

Commandeering a coupe and picking up patrolmen as he went, Pierce pursued the touring car in the direction of Danvers, but it was too fast and the kidnapers got away.

Miss Dukavitch was taken to a hospital, where it was found she had no broken bones. Later she went home.

Because of the conspicuous color and make of the touring car, the police believe they will be able to identify it and apprehend its occupants.

DEMAND ACTION.

There have been several abductions and manhandlings on the North Shore in the last few weeks and parents are demanding that the young men guilty be brought to justice.

GASOLINE OFF A CENT AT LOCAL STATIONS

A reduction of one cent in the price of gasoline was put in effect today in New England, lowering the price to 17 cents a gallon from the tank wagon and 19 cents at filling stations.

The Gulf company and the Standard began the day at the new price. Texaco, Jenney, Colonial and New England said they would be selling at the new price before the day was over.

DR. 'WHITE HAT' DUFF DIES AFTER OPERATION

Dr. John Duff, for more than thirty years one of the most picturesque figures in Charlestown, died today at the Carney Hospital, south Boston, following an operation.

Dr. Duff, who was so well known in Charlestown that he was almost regarded as an institution, was removed to the hospital several days ago, and following the operation he failed to rally, sinking steadily until the end.

While prominent in the practice of medicine for more than thirty years, it was the white hat which Dr. Duff always wore which made him a familiar figure in all sections of Charlestown. His home was at No. 2 Doyle Road.

Rain or shine, Winter or Summer, night or day, Dr. Duff always wore a felt hat of purest white. The only occasions when he donned more conventional headgear was when he at-

DIVES OUT OF TAXI TO ROAD

Companion in Wild Ride Is Held; State Constabulary Discovers Body

Rehoboth, Sept. 19.—A wild night ride by a man and a young woman in a taxi, with stops only for liquor, ended in tragedy in the early hours of today when the woman, in the midst of a battle in the speeding cab dove out of the machine to death.

Behind her winding trail of the wandering speeding cab that started from Woonsocket early last evening, moons bearing State Constabulary officers had raced a fast course in an endeavor to locate the roisterers.

They came early today upon the mangled body of Carrie Beacon, proprietress of the Rainbow Inn, East Blackstone, lying beside the runnerte road between Attleboro and Rehoboth, after Dr. Holden had been called to attempt to bring back life.

FOUND IN WOODS.

Into the woods fringing the road, Roland Belanger of Daley street, Woonsocket, companion in the mad triumphant ride, had scrambled despite the efforts of the cop, driven to halt him. Belanger later was found in the woods by Patrolman Townsend of the State Police.

Edmund Poitras, driver of the death taxi, owned by the Apotte Taxi Company of Woonsocket, was taken in custody as a material witness after he had told the police

DR. THIERY GOES INSANE
Dr. Raymond C. Thiery of Somerville became violently insane today or last night in East Cambridge jail, awaiting arraignment on a charge of murder of his father-in-law, David W. Nolan. Plans were rushed to have him sent to the Bridgewater State Hospital for observation, according to jail attendants. He has been giving indications of insanity for some days.

USED TORCHES TO GET HERRING; FINED

Attracting herring with torches cost Neil Nielsen of Chelsea a $50 fine today in East Boston Court.

Deputy Fish and Game Warden Goodwin was the complainant. He accused Nielsen, his brother William, and James C. Greene, also of Chelsea, of fishing for herring in the waters off Winthrop and using flaring torches in defiance of the 1911 statute. It was the first case of its kind in this part of the State.

SHRINERS GATHERING AT ATLANTIC CITY

Atlantic City, Sept. 19.—Thousands of shriners in full regalia poured into Atlantic City today by train and automobile to attend a three-day pilgrimage and ceremonial under the auspices of Crescent Temple of Trenton. Delegates from twenty temples in New Jersey east of the Mississippi were expected to participate tonight in a great initiation ceremony on the Steel Pier. The initiation will be followed tomorrow by a parade of the Nobles along the famed Atlantic avenue.

that when he was first approached to store liquor in his house, a railroad police employe told him he had "the police, the chief and the revenue people all fixed up."

Attorney-General Carpenter said an inquiry has been instituted which already shows promise of satisfactory developments. He added that Assistant Attorney-General Nolan had been directed to probe the case thoroughly and was busy practically all day in Warren and surrounding communities.

It was said that seven of the nine persons for whom subpenas have been issued were summoned, and arrangements made with counsel representing the other two virtually guaranteed their appearance before the Grand Jury.

GANG HUNTED IN THEFT OF BOBE GEMS

Search Woman's Apartment for the Names of Well-Known Persons

New York, Sept. 19 (Universal)—The hundred thousand dollar Bobe robbery has dwindled to the blank thousand dollar mystery.

More specifically, it should be called the blank - thousand-dollar Hague robbery.

Police working on the case are under the impression that the loss of Miss Edith Bobe, modiste, at her home in East 63rd street was not so great as first reported.

On the other hand, Robert L. Hague, marine superintendent of the Standard Oil Company, who was with Miss Bobe in her apartment on the night of the robbery, and modestly told the police he lost only $200, is said to have lost a much greater sum, in fact, running well into the thousands.

BOOKS NOT FOUND

A search in the Bobe apartment for the pink and black address books, presumed to contain interesting data about well-known people of the town, was futile. The two books disappeared, apparently when Miss Bobe fled.

In the meantime, the fine hand of the famous Gondorf gang has appeared in the case.

A member of the Gondorf gang of wire tappers—the same individual who was questioned as a suspect in the robbery at the Hotel Alamac last May of Mrs. Howard Johnson, wife of the song writer—attended the gay, all-night party in the home of Miss Bobe last Saturday. This was the party which was followed by the robbery.

WOMAN SOUGHT.

The men who later broke into her apartment and robbed Miss Bobe and Hague knew exactly what jewels she had, including the ones given her by Hague a few hours before.

The police are looking for the Gondorf man. They are also trying to locate a woman—she also figured in the Johnson robbery investigation—who is believed to be the "pilot" who leads members of the gang to rich "layouts."

of seeing the young woman plunge from the speeding cab.

Miss Dragon is described by acquaintances as a beautiful blonde of twenty-five years, with bobbed locks and blue eyes.

Immediately following his capture in the woods, Belanger, who has but one hand, was arraigned in Taunton Court, charged with drunkenness and with assault. To the former charges he pleaded guilty but the latter, not guilty. He was bound over until September 24.

STORY OF TRIP.

At 8 o'clock last night, according to Petitas' story, Belanger and Miss Dragon hired his cab at the Woonsocket railroad depot.

They ordered him to drive over the Providence-Taunton turnpike in the direction of Taunton, and when a roadhouse was reached Belanger told him to wait.

The couple left Petitas sitting in the cab and were gone for a short time, during which they had several drinks, according to the driver.

Then the taxi proceeded to Taunton, where more liquor was obtained. Next they went to a house in Middleboro on the New Bedford road—a house Petitas described as Miss Dragon's sister's home. More drinks were had there.

At 11 o'clock the journey back to Woonsocket was begun and the couple engaged in a quarrel as the cab raced along. At a point one-eighth of a mile west of the Agawam House in Rehoboth, Petitas said he felt a draught on his back that told him the cab door had swung open.

PLUNGED FROM TAXI.

He turned to close it and saw the blonde girl hurtle out of the taxi to the concrete road.

As she dove, Belanger's one hand shot after her, but whether the man was attempting to hold her or to push her Petitas could not perceive, he said.

Petitas declared he brought his car to an immediate stop and ran back to where the girl was lying unconscious, with her skull fractured, her jaw crushed and teeth broken.

Belanger reeled from the cab, according to the driver, and reeled into the woods, despite Petitas' attempts to hold him. Then the driver summoned the doctor, who pronounced the girl dead.

tended a funeral or when in attendance at some strictly formal function. At all other times the white felt hat was his mark of distinction.

More than thirty years ago, Dr. Duff's father-in-law, the late John Harrington, conducted a hat store on Washington street. Unable to sell a white hat he carried in stock, he sent it home to his son-in-law, who had just been graduated from Harvard Medical School.

MADE TO ORDER.

Dr. Duff wore the hat and liked it. He decided to adopt the white felt hat permanently. As long as his father-in-law was in the hat business he supplied the doctor with the hats of his choice. When he retired, Dr. Duff had his hats made to order. All were made of the same material, but of various styles, and on going out he was able to select from an entire closetful of white hats the particular style he cared to wear.

Dr. Duff was born in Charlestown on Aug. 28, 1860. He was graduated from Massachusetts Tech as a mining engineer and assayer and followed this profession for several years, in the West. He returned to Boston, entered Harvard Medical School and was graduated in 1890. Immediately taking up his practice in Charlestown, where he followed it until his recent illness.

Dr. Duff believed in the virtues of walking, and never, during the years of his practice did he use a horse or automobile in making his rounds.

DYNAMITE CASE SUSPECT TO BE TRIED

Haverhill Man to Face Court on Charge of Trying to Destroy Factory

Lawrence, Sept. 19.—John E. Merrick, who is under indictment on a charge of trying to dynamite the Kulpe Brothers shoe factory in Haverhill in the Spring of 1923, will go on trial during the present session of Essex County Superior Criminal Court.

The trial promises to be one of the most interesting in the history of the court.

It will probably last two weeks, according to District Attorney William G. Clark, and will come up here the week after next.

Again the sentencing of John E. Hayes, former chief of the Beverly police, has been postponed. It now is planned to sentence him next Monday.

Hayes was convicted in the January term of court of assaulting John Winston and Evelyn Spinney of Lynn with a dangerous weapon.

The former chief would have been sentenced Thursday had not his counsel been engaged elsewhere. It is expected he will appeal from the sentence.

Hayes was found guilty of firing two shots at an automobile occupied by Miss Spinney and Mr. Winston when the driver of the car refused to stop on his command.

CARDINAL TELLS HOLY NAME MEMBERS TO "STAND UNAFRAID"

ONLY REFERENCE TO KLAN IN CONVENTION SPEECH

Washington, Sept. 19.—In a speech which dealt in the main with matters spiritual, Cardinal O'Connell of Boston today told the convention of the Holy Name Society that its members should ever stand "unawed and unafraid of the forces which might menace them in their rights, human or divine."

It was the only reference of any kind to the campaign of discrimination carried on by the Ku Klux Klan.

Cardinal O'Connell

The Cardinal counseled his hearers to "walk humbly before God and men" but to defend with inconquerable strength their inalienable privileges as freeman.

Cardinal O'Connell is the representative of the Holy See at the convention, and today, in the convention hall of the Catholic University, he read the letter of greeting from the Vatican and gave the pontifical blessing, which he was delegated to do.

PONTIFICAL LETTER.

The pontifical letter concluded: "We have no doubt that this convention, held in the capital city of your nation, in the presence of cardinals, archbishops, and bishops, and witnessed by a large number of the members of this society, will become a famous reunion of Christian manhood and will redound to the greater glory of God and the welfare of the country."

Cardinal O'Connell then read a letter from Cardinal Bogglani, protector of Holy Name Societies throughout the world, which reviewed the activities of the confraternity.

"Veneration and love of Christ's sacred name is the miraculous power which saved Europe to civilization again and again. When the utter ruin and destruction of all law and learning threatened humanity in the degeneracy and downfall of Greece and Rome, when later the barbaric tribes from the North and East threatened to overwhelm all culture, it was the power and love of the Holy Name, held fast in the hearts of Christian men, that stemmed the tide of desolation and complete destruction and patiently and laboriously sustained the very foundations of human culture and morality.

"The powe, of the Holy Name has not diminished with the passage of the centuries. Indeed, in the last few decades, this fraternity has grown by leaps and bounds in this country.

"It is clear that men who are faithful to the Holy Name and what the name stands for constitute a splendid array of the finest elements upon which the welfare of any country may absolutely depend.

"Respect for authority? Why, as children they have understood this. It is now new doctrine for them. It is the foundation of their spiritual and civic life.

"Obedience to law? This is part and parcel of the fibre of their very souls.

"No new-fangled theories with high sounding names about fantastic novelties and the conflict of class, or of social anarchy, can ever surprise the men of the Holy Name into forgetting the real doctrine of Christ, the foundation of which is justice and love.

PLACES A WREATH.

"It must be evident to all that in the fearless loyalty of true Holy Name men to the glory of God and the welfare of this country, America has a great army in battle array, strong with the strength of God, who in every time of national stress may be depended upon as a bulwark against anarchy, disloyalty and disorder which, wherever they appear, menace the very foundations of national and international peace and prosperity.

"Here, under the protecting shadow of the dome which crowns the halls of national legislation, we salute at the same time the cross of salvation and the banner of our country."

Cardinal O'Connell was given a reception today by the 1,000 delegates from the Boston diocese and other hundreds from elsewhere in New England. The affair was at the Oblate Fathers' House, where he is staying.

Later he laid a wreath upon the grave of the Unknown Soldier in Arlington, at the conclusion of the ceremonies dedicated to the 700,000 Catholic men who served with the U. S. forces in the World War.

A public reception in the stadium of the Catholic University started the second day of theconvention. To the canopied altar and throne erected in the centre of the field, Cardinal O'Connell was escorted with all the ceremony befitting the retinue of the personal representative of the Pope.

WAR VETERAN IS MISSING OVER A MONTH

Harold P. Collings of Roxbury Drops From Sight, Leaving His Family Destitute

Destitute, with no money coming in and two children to feed and clothe, Mrs. Laura Collings has appealed to the police to find her husband, Harold P. Collings, who disappeared from their home, No. 5 Louis park, Roxbury, Aug. 15.

Collings, a World War veteran left home ostensibly to draw his wages. Since then his wife has neither seen nor heard from him.

The wife and children—a two-year-old girl, Dorothy and three-year-old boy, Harold—are penniless. They have been evicted from their home and a furniture store has taken back the installment furniture.

Temporarily the mother and her children have been making their home in one room at No. 89 Moreland street, Roxbury.

Collings worked for the Daly Plumbing Co. of Blue Hill avenue, Roxbury. His mother lives in the Back Bay. He is slight, five feet five inches tall and has dark hair.

WALES HAS SEEN ENOUGH OF NEW YORK

Hectic Day and Night in Manhattan Satisfies Him Until His 1926 Visit

Syosset, N. Y., Sept. 19.—The Prince of Wales, having arrived home with the dawn today after an event-crowded stay in Manhattan yesterday, has decided that he has seen enough of the American metropolis for the present.

Members of his party announced today that he probably would not again visit New York before he leaves his holiday home at the Harden estate here for his Alberta ranch next Sunday night.

He feels that his three visits to New York, culminating yesterday in his reception by great crowds, will serve him until he returns to America, possibly in 1926.

The theatre party and supper which capped the Prince's third Manhattan excursion, kept him at the Madison avenue home of Harrison Williams until an early hour this morning and it was dawn when he returned here.

He was up in plenty of time, however, to receive as his luncheon guests thirty of Long Island's men and women who have been his hosts at various affairs.

Members of the American and British polo teams and officers of the United States Polo Association and of the Meadow Brook Hunt Club were in the party.

He expects to play golf late in the afternoon with Louis Stoddard, polo association president. He may go to the polo match at Meadow Brook tomorrow. Beyond that the plans for the remaining days of his stay are uncertain. Captain Lascelles his secretary, said.

Captain Lascelles took occasion to deny rumors that the Prince contemplates cutting short his Canadian trip and sailing for England October 6. The Prince will stay on his Canadian ranch a month, the secretary said.

Birthday of Walter Johnson May Be Legal Holiday

Washington, Sept. 19.—A resolution to make the birthday of Walter Johnson a legal holiday in the District of Columbia in appreciation of his services as Washington's pitching mainstay for eighteen seasons, will be introduced in Congress by Representative Mac Nolan of California if the Washington team wins the American League pennant and the World Series.

Mrs. Nolan, who is the only woman member of the House, said "the outstanding hero of our national pastime should thus be honored as a constant reminder to the youth of the country to play the game square."

GIVES CLEW IN PEG-LEGGED BOY'S DEATH

Witness Discovered in Probe of Murder Revealed in West End Cellar

An important witness was discovered today by detectives investigating the death of an unidentified, peg-legged youth in the house at No. 50 Allen street.

He gave his name as Howard Grant and was closeted with police officials a long while.

At the conclusion of the examination the police announced they would immediately arraign David J. Delancey, who is held charged with the murder of the unknown.

Grant, it is understood, said he was with Delancey and the murdered victim about two weeks ago. The other man said he was from Philadelphia. Delancey wanted him and Grant to accompany him to his room at No. 50 Allen street, but Grant declined.

Trial was the last time the peg-legged youth was seen alive. The next day Delancey left his room. Last Saturday the body of the unidentified victim was found in the sub-basement at No. 50 Allen street.

AUTO BANDITS ESCAPE WITH $6,700 PAYROLL

Newark, Sept. 19.—In the heart of the noon hour rush today Charles Vendrillefect and Armin Maurer, two messengers of the Iron Bound Trust Company, were held up and robbed of $6,700, the payroll of the Halsehand Hughes leather factory. The bandits escaped in an automobile in which a third man was waiting.

ARMED BANDITS GET $17 FROM LODGING HOUSE MAN

Tired of waiting for their prey on the street corners, two holdup men entered the lodging house of David Cordekra at 375 Tremont street, and robbed him of $17 at the point of revolvers. They escaped in a sedan automobile while the lodging house man recovered from his fright and notified the police.

Shell Shock Makes Him Steal, Says Hub Ex-Cop

Frank H. Mealey of H street, South Boston, a former Boston policeman, told Judge Reeve in Lynn court today he was a victim of a peculiar form of shell shock which caused him to commit larceny and then forget all about it.

He was in court for failure to make good on a bad check for $30, for which he was put on probation last January.

He said he had been in nine other courts since January on larceny charges, and he was trying to make good on a total of more than $800.

Judge Reeve, however, sentenced him to thirty days in jail.

GRANT BOY'S FATE RESTS WITH SMALL

Chicago, Sept. 19 (Universal).—The fate of Bernard Grant rests with Gov. Len Small.

The petition asking that the Governor intervene in behalf of the 19-year-old youth who is under sentence to hang Oct. 17 was completed by Thomas Swanson, Grant's attorney.

The petition is backed by signatures of more than 100,000 people of all walks of life and in all parts of the country. Local authorities said they had no record of any other case in which such widespread interest was shown.

The hearing on the petition is expected to be held October 14, three days before the expiration of the date for the execution.

TOADSTOOLS FATAL TO BOY; TWO OTHERS ILL

Bridgeport, Ct., Sept. 19.—Nazerino Santelli, eighteen is dead, and his mother, Maria, fifty-five, and brother Mario, twenty-five, are ill at Bridgeport Hospital today as a result of eating toadstools, believing them to be mushrooms. It is believed they will recover.

FIRPO TO TESTIFY IN HIS OWN BEHALF TODAY

New York, Sept. 19.—Luis Angel Firpo went to Ellis Island today to testify in his own behalf in the hearing before a Board of Inquiry, to determine whether he is to be deported. The government has concluded its testimony, and W. W. Brown, chief of the legal division of the Immigration Service, said the case probably would be concluded today. Then the board's findings will be forwarded to Washington for a final decision.

BANDITS LINE UP BANK CLERKS AND GET $40,000

Wellston, Mo., Sept. 19. — Five armed and masked men entered the Wellston Trust Company in this St. Louis suburb shortly before the opening today, lined up six officials and employes against the wall, leisurely scooped up the cash and currency in the cages and vaults, amounting to between $35,000 to $40,000 and escaped.

TROOPS AT SHANGHAI HOLD OFF INVADERS

Shanghai, Sept. 19 (A. P.)—Revolt of the third Chekiang Army defending Shanghai has thrown the brunt of the battle on the first army under command of General Ho Feng-Lin, defense commissioner, whose army was holding the lines west of Shanghai against the Kaingsu forces fighting for possession of this city.

A report from council of war at the headquarters of General Lu Yung-Hsiang, Tuchun of Chekiang province, said that general Ly was inclined to surrender and to demand a peace parley composed of foreign mediators.

The peace proposal was overruled by General Ho, who said his troops were loyal and that he would continue to maintain a defense.

COOLIDGE IS SILENT, AS USUAL, ON LA FOLLETTE

Washington, Sept. 19.—A meeting with his Cabinet, the regular semi-weekly session, constituted the principal business before President Coolidge today.

There was no comment at the White House in regard to the speech delivered in New York last night by Senator La Follette, the President having made it clear that he would confine his discussion of politics to his occasional speeches.

DESERTED WIFE CRIES FOR HER LITTLE GIRL

Woman Found Nearly Starved After 3 Weeks in Woods Is Now Well Cared For

Worcester, Sept. 19.—After the first night in a warm, comfortable bed since the day three weeks ago when she took to the woods with her fifteen-month-old baby, Mrs. Delia Lescault sat up at the State Hospital today and called for her baby.

The child, suffering from the effects of the meagre diet of berries and an occasional drink of milk, is in the children's department of the hospital.

"I will not let them take her from me," Mrs. Lescault told a nurse. "When I get out of here, I will go to work and support both of us."

Except for the husband who deserted her a month ago, she said she had no relatives other than a married sister in New York. Her mother died last January.

She continued today to remain silent when she was questioned about her husband, saying only that his name was Frank Lescault.

Not only is the twenty-two-year-old woman suffering from the weakness that would naturally follow her life in the woods, but it was only a few days ago that she gave birth in a West Boylston farmhouse to a baby. The baby died soon after.

WHEELER WINDING UP HIS TOUR OF OHIO

Columbus, O., Sept. 19.—Senator Wheeler, Independent vice-presidential candidate, today is scheduled to wind up his three-day stumping tour in Ohio. His itinerary called for his appearance at two meetings in Dayton, and a trip to Cincinnati, where his seventh and last Ohio speech will be delivered at night.

NITA NALDI, SCREEN 'VAMP,' ELOPES WITH BANKER

New York, Sept. 19 (Universal).—Nita Naldi, screen vampire, is to be married next week to Giacinel Sanges of the Cleveland Trust Company of Cleveland, Ohio.

She sailed for Europe Wednesday on S. S. France, and her future husband, was also a passenger on the ship.

Sanges is a world traveler and a duellist. In a duel at Naples, Sanges killed the brother of Mussolini, the Fascist chief of Italy, following a quarrel in a cafe over the mention of a woman's name.

The story of the impending nuptials was given to Universal Service by Frank Naldi, her brother and manager.

The marriage of the beautiful screen star will be the climax of a romance of seven years. She met her future husband when she was a member of the chorus of the "Passing Show of 1917."

The show played Cleveland for one week and he paid ardent court to her. Sanges proposed marriage daily but was rejected. For seven years he has followed Nita in her travels about the country.

MANY PROPOSALS.

Countless times he proposed marriage in the seven years, but Nita couldn't decide she really loved him. Always, she vowed, she would never marry, except for love.

Last week, after several telegrams, each beseeching her acceptance of his proposals, were received by the star, she capitulated. From her home in New York she wired "Yes."

Passage was engaged on the France. The bridegroom-to-be had many business matters to dispose of and nearly missed the boat.

Nervously, Nita paced the deck. The time for sailing drew near, but there was no sign of her fiance.

As the gangplank was being drawn in he jumped from a taxicab and rushed up to the deck. For the first time since she boarded the liner, Nita smiled.

WEDDING AT NAPLES

Nita and her banker sweetheart will be married at the villa of Rodolph Valentino in Naples.

Rodolph will be best man for the couple, and Mrs. Valentino will enact the role of bridesmaid. Nita and her husband will return to New York in about a month. She will complete a picture she was working on when she left, and then plans to quit the screen and settle down in Cleveland.

Nita will join Rodolph Valentino and his wife in Spain, where they are assembling costumes and designs for Rodolph's forthcoming picture in which she has the leading feminine role.

The almond-eyed vamp had gained much weight and she went on a strict diet, underwent electrical treatments, and hefty massaging.

The result: exit 20 pounds or more. Enter great fatigue. Nita's condition became serious. Upon consulting a doctor, he is said to have told Nita she was run down, due to her strict diet.

ITALIAN CROWN PRINCE GOING BACK TO ROME

Buenos Aires, Sept. 19.—Crown Prince Humbert of Italy sailed from Bahia, Brazil, for home aboard the Italian Cruiser San Giorgio, escorted by the San Marco, says a dispatch to La Nacion. The Prince, who visited several South American countries, was obliged to restrict his stay in Brazil to a few days at Bahia, the dispatch adds, owing to the rebellion originating in Sao Paulo.

During his brief visit he was the recipient of many official and popular demonstrations.

GOVERNOR COX AT DOUGLAS FUNERAL

Former Chief Magistrate of State Buried at Brockton Heights

Governor Cox, members of his Council and other dignitaries attended the semi-military funeral of former Governor William L. Douglas, which took place today from his late home, No. 63 Hillside road, Brookline.

The Rev. Albert H. Hamett of Springfield, a close personal friend of Mr. Douglas, officiated at the services, which began at 2 o'clock.

There was a military escort of eight sergeants of the 101st Field Artillery, M. N. G., and eight other members of the National Guard were pallbearers.

The honorary pallbearers, all Brockton men, were: Mayor William A. Sullivan, ex-Councillor Harry H. Williams, Fred B. Howard, president of the Home National Bank; Judge Warren A. Reed, Arthur P. Starrett, superintendent of the Douglas stitching department for more than thirty years; ex-Mayor John S. Kant, Charles D. Nevins, treasurer of the W. L. Douglas Shoe Company, and Frederick M. Sherburne.

The cortege was to move from Brookline through Milton, Canton and Stoughton to Brockton, where interment was to take place in the family lot at Melrose Cemetery, Brockton Heights.

All Brockton shoe factories closed for the day at 3:30, and the Brockton Retail Merchants' Association voted to close the stores from 2 o'clock until 3.

Twenty-four hundred employes of the W. L. Douglas Shoe Company were to meet the cortege as it reaches the Brockton line and to march with it to the cemetery.

The city of Brockton, through City Marshal George C. Chase, will have two policemen on duty at the grave continuously until Sunday.

What about "undies"?

CREPE de Chine nightgown with tiered sleeves, $5

NOVELTY net trimmed crepe de Chine gown, $5

RADIUM silk "Bobber" blouse chemise, $7.50

Many exquisite underthings from France, Belgium and the Philippines

SATIN striped crepe de Chine step-in chemise, $3

WHAT CUNNING SLEEVES!

Adorable three-tiered sleeves that call to mind the cape sleeves of Directoire days add much interest to "nighties" of pink crepe de Chine. And the edging-white novelty net is dainty as can be, $5.

Other silk gowns, $5 to $12.50.

AND YOU DON'T NEED A SKIRT!

Not if you wear a Bobber tunic slip, for it's made in wrap-around fashion from crepe Russe to serve the two-fold purpose of slip and skirt underneath your tunic blouse—in black, brown or navy, $6.75.

Other tunic slips, $7.50.

A BLOUSE AND CHEMISE

For the "Bobber" blouse-chemise plays these two roles most successfully. They are ideal if one wears a suit or a coat dress and desires as most of us do, to reduce "undies" to the minimum—in white radium silk with henna, black or green pipings and ties, $7.50.

THE VOGUE OF SIMPLICITY

An important vogue in the fashion world of underwear—and following this vogue quite charmingly are nightgowns of crepe de Chine with edging of novelty lace—in peach, white, orchid or pink, $5.

Other silk gowns, $5 to $12.50.

AND AS FOR STRIPED FABRICS

When the stripes are satin to make a shimmering contrast with a dull but dainty crepe fabric, they do make the prettiest underthings. Step-in chemises of satin striped crepe chemise colors themselves becomingly with lace and net edging, $3.

Other silk chemises, $3 to $10.

Federal Commissioner Still Seeking to Bring About an Agreement

With production at the Waltham Watch & Clock Company reported virtually nil as a result of the strike, it was reported today the factory would close down.

Superintendent I. E. Boucher refused today either to deny or to affirm this. It is, however, regarded as the natural course for officials of the company to pursue.

Only 300 are said to be working now, of which less than fifty are returned strikers. Those still on strike number 2,200.

United States Commissioner of Conciliation Charles G. Wood is still attempting to bring about agreement. He said today he would call Commissioner Anna Weinstock from Washington to help him, as nearly half the strikers are women.

The strikers have established an employment bureau in the Central block. They will hold a mass meeting Monday.

SPURNED BRIDE ASKS $500,000 OF CHAMBERS

Daughter-in-Law of Novelist Charges Family Wrecked Her Wedded Life

By HAYDEN TALBOT

(Copyright, 1924, by Universal Service)

London, Sept. 19 (Universal)—"The whole point is that I am fed up on the impossible attitude of my husband's family. I intend to remain in England, broke—and I like it better than being rich in New York."

That is the summary of a long airing of her woes by Mrs. Robert Husted Chambers, daughter-in-law of Robert W. Chambers.

She threatens to sue the noted author for $500,000.

The London Times printed a notice signed Robert Husted Chambers, that no longer would he be responsible for his wife's debts, whereupon three night clubs, all of which are under police surveillance, promptly cancelled the previously easy admittance of Mrs. Chambers.

"This is really a stupid story," the bride said in an interview, "but I cannot see why I should not tell it. For years I had Oxford boys for my friends and when I met young Chambers I liked him and presently grew to love him. Eventually we were married, here in London at the Marylebone Registry Office.

"He knew all there was to know about me and I prepared to settle down with him. Almost immediately after I had taken a year's lease on a flat in London, his parents cabled from America for us to come and meet them.

"I agreed to go and was met by his father, who then treated me decently, but after we arrived at their home and his mother had one look at me, his father treated me abominably.

"There is no use in making my husband a defendant because he has nothing. Therefore I intend to sue his father, who is rich, for $500,000 for alienation of my husband's affections."

NO PRIVILEGES FOR LOEB AND LEOPOLD

Nicknames Are Barred and They Must Address Guards Formally

By HARRY C. READ

Joliet, Ill., Sept. 19.—"Babe" and "Dinkie" faded forever from the picture when Warden John L. Whitman called attention of every attache of the Joliet Penitentiary to the rule that no inmate is to be addressed by his first name or a nick name. "Leopold" and "Loeb" will be the thing from now on.

Gone forever is the carefree association of college and social days. Gone, too, is the easy life of the Cook County jail, where guards were permitted to adopt a policy of easy tolerance toward the prisoners. There will be no addressing of prison keepers by "Hank" or "John," as the case may be. It will be Mr. This and Mr. That, so far as Leopold and Loeb are concerned.

According to one of the oldest keepers in the penitentiary, the boys started their prison life with one advantage. It was that of knowing the vocabulary. Most persons who came in as convicts from similar positions in life have been at liberty on bonds, and as a result they cannot speak the language of the convict. From their associations in the county jail, Leopold and Loeb have picked up the argot of their kind.

FOOD ENCORES ESTABLISHED AT CITY CLUB

Members May Have Second Helpings, Nothing Excepted Free of Charge

"Members may be served with a second helping of any portion free of charge."

Members of the City Club, patronizing the club dining room, rushed their eyes in amazement when they found that announcement, printed in small type across each of the club's luncheon menus.

"There a catch in it somewhere" was the consensus of the more conservative element in the dining room. The idea of getting a second helping of anything on the menu that appealed to the appetite, without additional cost, was too big to be grasped immediately.

Some of the bolder spirits made up their minds to find out whether or not there was a pea under the shell. They ordered a second helping of lobster—even a repeat order for apple pie—called for more coffee. They discovered that the announcement on the menu meant just what it said—that extra portions of food could be ordered to the heart's content without the check showing the slightest increase.

"Most of the cost of operating a restaurant lies in the overhead—the service, silverware, linens, etc." said one of the club officials. "The actual cost of the food is only a fraction of the cost of the operation, so we figured out it would be good business to furnish additional food without charge."

The Henry F. Sears Plan Party in Honor of Daughter

By BETTY ALDEN.

THOSE youthful members of society for whom the wailing of the saxaphone has especial fascinations are looking forward to the dance which Dr. and Mrs. Henry F. Sears are giving a week from tomorrow night.

This terpsichorean treat is in honor of the older daughter of the house, Miss Emily Sears, and is to take place at the Beverly Cove Summer home of the Searses.

A tall, slender blonde is Miss Emily, who was one of the most attractive debutantes of the past season. Not a little of her time has been passed on foreign shores, for Dr. and Mrs. Sears are among the smart folk who spend quite as much time abroad as they do here. It was but a short time ago, in fact, that the family returned from one of their frequent sojourns on the other side.

The town house is on Beacon street, where a number of bud functions were staged last Winter.

QUITE a number of Boston folk watched the American and British teams wield their mallets in the second of the international polo games held at Meadow Brook.

Among the spectators was Miss "Eleo" Sears—always a staunch devotee of everything sporting—as was also Harold S. Vanderbilt. Which reminds me that the tea-cup chatterers have quite given up the hope that these two will ever exchange marriage vows, though time was when everyone considered their marriage a foregone conclusion.

Mr. and Mrs. W. Deering Howe were there, the former Polly Brooks, quite as sparkling as ever. That popular pair, Mr. and Mrs. George von L. Meyer, 2d, journeyed over from "Longmeadow," their Hamilton place, to be the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Eliot C. Bacon in their box.

Naturally Freddy Prince, Jr., was there—enthusiastic poloist that he is—while Mrs. J. N. Brown and her son, John Nicholas, left their Newport place to be present at the matches.

TOMORROW the Myopia Hunt Club's hunters will be shown at the Topsfield Fair, which opened on Wednesday, closing tomorrow.

The smartest Summer colonists in and about Topsfield are keenly interested in the success of this four-day event, better known as the Essex County Fair. This year's, by the way, is the 103d annual event.

Of the prominent folk serving on various committees are Edward Wigglesworth, Thomas E. Proctor, James W. Appleton, Mrs. Charles G. Rice, Mrs. Edward Wigglesworth, Mrs. John S. Lawrence, Mrs. John L. Saltonstall, Mrs. Robert Means and Mrs. Richard Wheatland.

The townspeople and the Summer folk cooperate very heartily each year to make this gigantic fair the tremendous success it always is.

IN CHARITY FETE

Miss Pauline DeFries (right) and her brother, Prinz DeFries, children of Mrs. Thaddeus DeFries of the Manchester colony, recently took part in an entertainment given by the young folk along the Shore to benefit the Children's Hospital.

MARION DAVIES PRAISED FOR NEW PART

Critic Writing In "Real Life" Finds Her Janice Meredith Most Pleasing

Enthusiastic praise for Marion Davies and for the newest production in which she stars, "Janice Meredith," now showing at the Cosmopolitan Theatre, New York, are contained in an article by Annie Austin in the September issue of Real Life.

"Marion Davies," writes Miss Austin, "is now a delightful mistress of pantomime, probably the most expressive artist in polite comedy and light dramatic roles on the screen."

The writer finds Miss Davies—

"A delightful cross between a Mabel Normand and a Norma Talmadge, combining the mischievous comedy of one with the emotional depth of the other, and flavoring the result with her own individuality. In short, it is easy to see that we like Miss Davies as she appears in 'Janice Meredith'."

Miss Austin's review in part continues:

"The story by Paul Leicester Ford is so well known as to make a retelling ridiculous. The screen version adheres rather strictly to the original, once you forget that Mr. Ford's heroine was a small, vivacious brunette. Certainly Miss Janice Meredith, as Mr. Ford conceived her, could not have been more charming than Marion Davies makes her. So why quibble about the color of her hair?

"As usual, Cosmopolitan Productions manages to clothe every one over the head and reduce you to a state of the setting, the stupendous cast, and excellent actors in the leading roles and the marvelous costumes. Critics dare not raise its head when crushed under such tons of magnificence.

"As for costumes, every woman who sees Marion Davies all dressed up in her two dozen or so changes of costume will turn a rich green with envy and make life miserable for her provider, until her clothes mania subsides. If there is a more graceful wearer of old-time costumes than Marion, we'd like to see her. Her beauty is strangely enhanced in this picture, probably by the expert services of the cameramen—Ira H. Morgan and George Barnes.

NEW FIELD FOR NEW ENGLAND PRODUCTS

Manufacturers and Exporters Are Urged to Go After West India Trade

New England manufacturers and exporters are urged to go after West Indian trade by Trade Commissioner H. P. Macgowan of the United States Department of Commerce, who is visiting Boston looking into the New England Week demonstrations.

He believes New England manufacturers can materially increase their sales in the West Indies if they go after the trade there in the right way. During his visit to Boston, Mr. Macgowan is learning what products made in this section will appeal particularly to the West Indies. He sails for the islands September 28.

According to Mr. Macgowan, the United States shipped $326,187,537 worth of goods to the West Indies last year. Of this total $60,000,000 worth of merchandise went to islands other than Cuba and Porto Rico, the best customers.

He says that in his opinion, New England made goods should have a bigger sale in the Bahamas, Jamaica, Haiti, Dominican Republic, Trinidad, Barbadoes and the British, French and Dutch possessions in the Caribbean.

There is big demand in all these lands for our cotton, textiles, flour, shoes, sugar machinery, agricultural implements, canned food, muffle, condensed milk and hardware.

Hundreds of persons attended last night's New England Week program of the Rotary Clubs in Mechanics building. The exercises were broadcast by Station WBZ.

The meeting was opened by "Bob" Weston, president of Boston Rotary Club, followed by raising of the American flag and singing of "America" by the audience. Elmer Hubbard was then introduced as permanent chairman, followed by introduction of vice-chairman, Charles Garvin.

DAWES PLEADS FOR SAVING OF CONSTITUTION

Warns of "Sinking Sands of Socialism" in Invading La Follette Territory

Aboard Dawes Special, Dubuque, Ia., Sept. 18—The Republican party's new campaign slogan—save the Constitution — was carried through the corn belt and into the spring wheat region of the Northwest today by Charles G. Dawes, Vice-Presidential candidate.

The issue revolving about Constitutional questions was raised by Mr. Dawes today in informal talks and conferences as he traveled toward Sioux Falls.

The position of the Republican party on the farm question will be discussed by the nominee in a speech tonight at the Coliseum in Sioux Falls.

The speech tonight will be the second in this campaign region, recognized as the La Follette strongbold.

"The people who are fighting against the Constitution of the United States are courageous and I respect them for their courage," the nominee declared. "The trouble has been that we haven't had enough courageous men to come out and fight on the other side.

"The issue in this campaign is: 'Do we stand in this country upon the rock of the Constitution, behind President Coolidge, who upholds it, or do we stand on the sinking sands of Socialism with the red flag?'"

G. O. P. TO DODGE KLAN ISSUE IN STATE

Democrats Intend to Fight for Denunciatory Plank in Platform

As the Republican and Democratic resolutions committees met today in Worcester preliminary to the State conventions of the two rival parties on Saturday the Ku Klux Klan bogey arose as the dominant issue.

The Republicans, repeating the tactics employed at the national convention in Cleveland, were making every effort to soft pedal the Klan.

On the other hand, the Democratic leaders stated boldly that a plank would be inserted in which the hooded order would be denounced in definite terms.

Both parties were prepared to straddle the question of the ratification by Massachusetts of the child labor amendment to the Federal constitution, and to accept the will of the voters on the issue at the election in November.

The reactionary G. O. P. leaders are all set in a determined drive to repeal the popular direct primary, and to substitute in its place a hand picked slate for the guidance of the voter.

This plank has been prepared by Representative Slater Washburn, mentioned prominently as the next floor leader of the House. It is conceded to be a direct attempt to shut off men like State Auditor Alonzo B. Cook, against whom the machine is powerless under the present system.

Statements appearing to the effect that David I. Walsh has decided to "go it alone" in his campaign for re-election have been denounced by the junior Senator as "a Republican trick," designed to create discord in the Democratic ranks.

LA FOLLETTE IN CONFERENCE ON CAMPAIGN

New York, Sept. 19—Encouraged by the reception given him at a rally in Madison Square Garden, Senator Robert M. La Follette, independent candidate for President, pressed forward today with his campaign, discussing strategy and plans with friends and supporters who called on him at his hotel here.

Among those who had an engagement with the Senator was Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor, who has not conferred with Mr La Follette since the Federation's Executive Council endorsed his candidacy. The meeting was arranged to give the candidate and labor chief an opportunity to discuss organized labor's part in the campaign. As Mr. Gompers was reported as being independent, it was not certain whether he would be able to keep his appointment.

Many of those who visited Senator La Follette today did so to congratulate him on his speech. It was his first appearance before an audience since he became a candidate, and the crowd which filled the big auditorium cheered him for fifteen minutes when he entered the hall, and repeatedly interrupted his address with applause.

Reading slowly from manuscript —something new in campaigning for Senator La Follette, who in the past invariably had spoken extemporare—the candidate held the attention of his audience for ninety minutes. At several junctures he interpolated brief observations, one of them—a prediction that he would be the next President—bringing a prolonged wave of cheering.

Mr. La Follette declared that he would not permit "foolish and pretentious assertions" of his opponents with regard to his advocacy of a Constitutional amendment which would give Congress power to override judicial vetoes of measures to keep him from discussing the vital issues of the campaign.

He assailed President Coolidge, declaring that as Vice-President he had been in a position to know all about the naval oil leasing transactions and other alleged irregularities during the Harding administration. The acts of the Harding-Coolidge administration he insisted, must be judged as a whole.

The Wisconsin Senator referred to John W. Davis, the Democratic Presidential nominee, as "a certain distinguished lawyer who blocked efforts of the public to reduce telephone rates in New York."

Mr. La Follette will deliver another address here Sunday to the Steuben Society.

'Fighting Bobs' Out to 'Put La Follette in White House'

New York, Sept. 19 (Universal Service).—Fighting Bob has the bobbed hair vote.

Five hundred of New York's fairest bobbed-hair devotees, under the banner of "The Fighting Bobs," have banded together to rush the white-haired Senator to the White House.

They marched through the aisles of Madison Square Garden, where the La Follette meeting was held, waving their banners and singing "La Follette for President" to the tune of "Maryland, My Maryland."

The Fighting Bobs are professional and business women of New York who are "strong" for bobbed hair and Bob La Follette.

J. W. DAVIS STANDS FOR "PERSONAL LIBERTY"

Dexter Pavilion, Chicago, Sept. 19 (Universal).—Declaring that he stood "unreservedly for freedom from unlawful search and seizure," John W. Davis, Democratic nominee for President, transformed an audience of 18,000 persons into a cheering, screaming, delirious mob.

Davis' statement concerning the right of search and seizure and the stand on "personal liberty" in his speech here was taken as a definite indication that he favored modification of the prohibition law.

The ovation which the candidate received after he had delivered this portion of his speech surpassed by far any demonstration that he has received since he commenced his campaign for the Presidency.

PUNISHED FOR SILENCE ABOUT 3 POLICEMEN

Worcester, Sept. 19.—Patrolmen Thomas J. Shea and John M. $45 OUT OF $75 RECOVERED BY POLICEMAN

Fugitive Just Leaks Money as West Roxbury Officer Fires in Air

No sportsman takes a shot at a bird unless he's on the wing and Patrolman Walsh is a tough-shooting sportsman.

Walsh is the kind of marksman who peels $45 off a $75 roll in a man's pocket while the gazelle is galloping, thus bolstering up the sagging shooting average of his home station in West Roxbury.

The ducks were just beginning to crow in the open places when Walsh almost ran smack into a man who appeared worried about his destination.

The destination wasn't Rodindale square—Walsh could see that, for the stranger immediately started going away from there. After Walsh had stumbled through a score of alleys and barked his shins scaling countless back fences, he began to get mad and started shooting.

It acted strangely. Bits of paper fluttered out of the man's pocket with every shot, even if the shots were sent into the air. When he finally had been outdistanced, Patrolman Walsh went back and retrieved $45 along his route.

Later it was discovered that the Busey Garage at No. 4185 Washington street, Roslindale, had been robbed of $75.

OFFICER SAVED LIFE OF MAN HE HAD SHOT

Shot down by a special officer of the Boston & Maine railroad, James Giorgini, 35 years old, of No. 50 Murdock street, Somerville, was saved from bleeding to death by the quick work of the man who shot him and two Somerville police officers, who gave first aid.

Giorgini was taken to Somerville Hospital, where it is said he will recover.

The shooting occurred on railroad property, and the shot was fired by Special Officer A. W. Frost, who claims it was done in self-defence.

SPRINGFIELD RAILWAY FARE INCREASE O. K'D

Springfield, Sept. 19.—Notification was received here today from the State Public Utilities Commission of the granting of the petition of the Springfield Street Railway Company for an increase from 7 to 10 cents, effective Sunday. The petition was based primarily upon the plea of increased cost of operation, due to wage increase awarded by a board of arbitration.

FAULTY BRAKES REVEALED BY NEW DEVICE

Motor Experts Use Decelerometer on Trucks and Warn Many Drivers

If you are doubtful of the brakes on your car, test them with a decelerometer.

This is a new machine which shows within what distance you can stop your car when it's going at 20 miles an hour.

Experts from the Registry of Motor Vehicles, armed with decelerometers, spent the day holding up trucks that passed the South Station and trying out their brakes.

MANY DEFECTIVE.

Many were found to have defective brakes, and the drivers were warned to have them repaired.

A table showing how good the brakes of a car are by the distance in which it may be brought to a full stop has been prepared. This is printed below.

The figures in the left hand column show the speed of the car, while the figures in the other columns show the distance in feet in which the car may be stopped at that particular speed.

For example, if a car owner finds he can stop a car within a distance of 40 feet while going at 20 miles an hour, he has brakes rated as good.

MUST ALLOW 90 FEET.

Furthermore he should remember while driving if he is travelling at 20 miles an hour he must allow 90 feet in which to make a stop.

The table follows:

Miles Per Hr.	Perfect Brakes	Good	Passable	Not Passable	Bad	Very Bad
10	8.8	10.0	12.5	15.0	20.0	25.0
15	12.5	14.5	18.0	21.8	28.8	36.0
20	17.5	20.0	25.1	30.8	41.0	51.2
25	30.1	40	50	60	80	100
30	44.7	62.5	78.2	93.7	125	156

McDONALD SEES PEACE MENACED AS IN 1914

London, Sept. 19 (I.N.S.).—Premier Ramsay Macdonald, writing today in a "no more war edition" of the Daily Herald, compared present conditions with those that existed in 1914 before the war burst upon the world.

"No one can doubt that the mentality of nations today, their fears and the safeguards they seek are as menacing to peace as those before 1914" wrote the premier. "The war has not established a spirit of Democracy but has left a trust in dictatorships and force and an impatience with ordered progress and national good feeling."

DEPORTATION GIRL WIFE'S TRAGEDY

Brooklyn Girl Married Man Never Legally Admitted to the United States

New York, Sept. 19.—Widowed by deportation orders which have held her husband prisoner on Ellis Island more than a month, Mrs. Anna Picardi, scarcely seventeen, sat brooding over the sorrows that fell to her lot when she married a man who had never been legally admitted to the United States. In her arms was a three-months' old baby. She is living in the home of her mother in Brooklyn, a woman with five children and nobody but herself to support them.

Antonio Picardi, the girl's husband and father of her child, was arrested by immigration authorities when he returned to make good, as he put it, and do the honorable thing. He was charged with having been a seaman who deserted his ship and failed to report for inspection under the immigration laws. While thus an unlawful dweller in the United States he met and married the girl wife and another who is the principal victim of his indiscretion in smuggling himself into the country.

The man says he is still a seaman; that he had gone back to Italy as a fireman on a ship and was delayed in returning because of labor troubles at the Italian port. Learning of the birth of his baby he took passage as a regular passenger on another vessel and hurried back. His arrest and detention at Ellis Island followed. The young wife engaged Thomas F. Kirk as a lawyer to take her fight to the Federal courts and, if possible, save her husband from deportation.

Judge Bondy of the United States District Court has given one hearing and asked for further proof that Picardi is a bona fide seaman intending to reship foreign as the law requires.

Immigration officials cite the case as showing the evils of immigrant smuggling. To Anna Picardi it is her life's tragedy.

FORBES LOSES ATTACK UPON INDICTMENT

Date of Trial of Ex-Head of Veterans' Bureau to Be Decided on Oct. 14

Chicago, Sept. 19.—Federal Judge Carpenter today overruled demurrers of Colonel Charles R. Forbes and John W. Thompson, Chicago and St. Louis contractor, to the indictments charging them with conspiracy in connection with Forbes' administration as director of the Veterans' Bureau. The trial date will be set October 14.

The defense had objected that the indictments charging the defendants with conspiracy to defraud the government were vague.

Judge Carpenter, in ruling in favor of the government, said that the law provides due safeguards for accused persons, but that there is "no indictment that astute students of English could not criticize." He added that the indictments were sufficiently clear to understand what the government had in mind, conspiracy to defraud the government.

The defense should "begin preparing for trial now," Judge Carpenter said, when James Hamilton Lewis of defense counsel asked if counsel would be given an opportunity to discuss the selection of a trial date.

To know NEW ENGLAND PRODUCTS is to want them

"MADE IN NEW ENGLAND"—or, "Grown in New England"—are but simple and unadorned statements of fact. Yet, they suggestively tell, to every imaginative mind, the staunch story of New England character, progressiveness, stability, quality.

Nearly 500 Brookside Stores, wastelessly operating as a unit, are a New England institution—the result of New England's desire for thrift and home betterment—and their remarkable and prosperous expansion, through the New England States, is the natural reward for service rendered to the people in those states—service rendered in the form of better food products at lower prices.

"To know New England Products is to want New England Products"—the truth of which slogan is amply demonstrated by the Brookside Stores' annual sales of

Over $5,000,000.00 Worth of New England Products

7,000,000 Quarts Brookside Milk
1,300,000 Jars Brookside Heavy Cream
1,250,000 Dozen Brookside Just Laid Eggs
350,000 Bushels New England Potatoes
35,000 Bushels New England Onions
3,000 Barrels Cape Cod Cranberries
7,000,000 Loaves of New England Baked Bread
2,500,000 Pounds National Biscuits Baked in New England
75,000 Bushels of New England Apples

Here is proof positive of the enormous demand fostered by that fine reputation for QUALITY for which New England stands in the estimation of all people.

To know Brookside Products is to continue, year after year, as thousands of thrifty housewives do, to "Cash and Carry" at the Brookside Stores—where New England food products have always been a feature—and have set a high standard of quality which out-of-New-England products must approach before they can be accepted for sale by the Brookside Stores.

KEARNS PREDICTS DEMPSEY WILL FIGHT TWICE THIS WINTER

GIBBONS MAY GET MATCH

By GENE FOWLER

New York, Sept. 19 (Universal).—Jack Kearns, babbling about on his recollections, full of business. Turning next from the motion picture front to where his champion, Jack Dempsey, pursued so many yards of cell loft, Kearns again is thirsting in Marquis Queensberry terms.

Dempsey, before going on tour, put two Winter fights on the titular belt. Dempsey is going to do the same.

While Dempsey is pointed toward Boyle's Thirty Acres for the champion's next start, Kearns would at least one preliminary bout with the fans before engaging the acrobat in the open.

THINKING OF RETIREMENT.

Then Kearns almost broke the cookie as he said:

"People think that money everything. It is a terror. Dempsey is the champion and will be for years. At the end of his career, however, he will be broke. He likes to fight and I always see him fight. Of course he is going to fight Gibbons, but nothing. But you need not be surprised if Dempsey fights Tunney guarantees to get them take" or leave it.

BERLENBACH FAVORED

Rickard's Garden opening bright will bring Paul Berlenbach and Jack Reddick together in a battle of nose-bending exercise.

The wise ones are going back this scrap, for William H. of Paul for a decision. It says that Mike McTigue was given Paul the surprise of a career when they tangled a similar contest. Jones added.

"A lot of people don't think that Mike is in such shape for another ring battle. He has been with a serious heart condition and the fight game has given him a beating.

The Berlenbach-Reddick show is to be the first of a series of four bouts so that we may bring many of the best boxers in the ring. With a full outdoor season Rickard expects to map us with an epic.

How to Boost New England

Eight of every ten cigars smoked in New England are made outside of New England. This should not be so. To know New England products you must patronize them. The Elcho cigar is made in Boston, by Boston labor, from the most expensive Havana filler and exempt by duty/stamp in quality and price. If you believe in New England, show it by buying Elcho cigars. If their quality and price satisfy you, continue to smoke Elcho cigars and you will not only be getting exceptional value but helping to increase New England's industrial prosperity.

SATURDAY LAST DAY IN 'EYE' CONTEST

Little remains to be said to our competitors in the Boston American's $1,700 "Use Your Eyes" Competition.

Lists must be in the mail not later than midnight, tomorrow. Please be careful to address them to "New England Editor, P. O. Box 221, Boston, Mass.," and be sure to write your own name and address in the upper left-hand corner of the envelope.

The reason for insisting upon the name of the contestant on the envelope, in the upper left-hand corner, is to expedite the work of checking and counting. Thirty-five of the thirty-seven awards are "district" awards, and the presence of name and address on the envelope will be of great help in arranging the lists by districts.

The two main awards, of $600 and $200 each, will be made without reference to districts. These will go to the two lists which, when all have been examined and counted, top all the others.

The lists asked for are lists of the New England-made products you have seen on exhibition during New England Week. Each list must be the work of one person.

HE WORE A STRAW HAT, BUT 'TWAS ROOFLESS

Maguire's straw hat caused a thrilling scene in East Boston Court today.

For years William C. Maguire, attorney, has defiantly worn his straw skypiece far beyond the official date of its passing. He has been seen wandering in snowstorms with a straw lid.

Today, in the courtroom, somebody stole the straw lid. An hour later it was found, but, alas the top had been cut from it.

The attorney proceeded to the office of the clerk of courts and demanded summonses for all concerned, but the clerk refused on the technical ground that straw hats have no intrinsic value after September 15. Maguire, game to the gore, wore the roofless straw to his home.

LAWRENCE MILLS NOT PLANNING WAGE CUTS

Lawrence, Sept. 19.—Acceptance of a 10 per cent reduction in wages by the 14,000 operatives of the Amoskeag Mills at Manchester, N. H., will not affect the textile labor situation in Lawrence, according to mill agents of that city, who announced last night no cuts in pay would be made, at least in the immediate future.

VETERANS!

AMERICAN CAN SOLVE YOUR

BonusProblems

ASK US!

J. W. H., West Lynn.

Q—(1) I was in the navy from May 7, 1917, to March 4, 1919. What will be the amount of bonus? (2) I was in the fleet at this side from May 7, 1917, to December 20, 1917. Is that overseas service? (3) If a ship is in dock a month is that overseas? (4) I have lost my discharge certificate. Will my war service certificate take its place?

A—(1) From the length of your service you will undoubtedly be entitled to receive a 20-year paid-up insurance policy valued at about $1,000. (2) Service afloat is considered overseas service. (3) The period your ship was in dock will probably be considered service afloat, and equivalent to overseas service. (4) Neither a discharge paper or war service certificate need be forwarded to Washington. The information requested on the application blank can be given to the best of your ability.

MRS. D. S., New Bedford.

Q—I am a widow, 52 years of age, and the mother of a boy who served in the navy during the war. I don't know where my son is, would I receive anything under the bonus law?

A—The benefits of the bonus act may be applied for by a dependent mother if her veteran son has died, leaving no unmarried widow or children under 16 years of age surviving, if your son has disappeared, leaving no wife or children, you should fill out and forward an application blank to Washington stating the circumstances of your son's disappearance, and by so doing you will protect your interests in case it should develop that your son is dead, or in the event the government makes some special ruling concerning missing veterans.

H. A. D., U. S. S., S-42.

Q—Dread of mine served as a yeoman (F) for days prior to the Armistice. Is she entitled to receive anything under the bonus act?

A—No. A veteran having less than 60 days of service during the World War is not entitled to receive any benefits under the bonus law.

J. J. C., North Cambridge.

Q—Being service after July 1, 1919, count computing his bonus?

A—No. Credit is given for service between April 5, 1917, and July 1, 1919, with a maximum credit of $500 for all home service and $625 for both home and overseas service.

W. J. T., East Bridgewater.

Q—I was a seaman in the Merchant Marine from June 30, 1918, until February 26, 1919. Am I entitled to the bonus?

A—Members of the Merchant Marine are not eligible for the bonus.

G. A. R., Bristol, Conn.

Q—I served in the 1st United States Navy from August 1, 1918, until April 30, 1922. Am I entitled to the $20 bonus?

A—No. Only members of the United States Army, Navy or Marine Corps who performed active service in the World War are entitled to receive the benefits of the $60 bonus.

M.S., V. B., West Lynn.

Q—(1) If my husband was in the navy as a chief petty officer, he later received a commission as lieutenant junior grade, temporarily appointment. He thereafter was advanced to the grade of lieutenant. (2) Are regular navy men as well as men enlisted for the period of war entitled to the bonus? (3) Will my husband's commission bar him from the benefits of the law?

A—(1) Regular navy men are entitled to receive the benefits of the bonus law, provided they did not hold a permanent commission. (2) Your husband would be entitled to receive the bonus, although he had a temporary commission as lieutenant, as of February 28, 1919. What will my bonus be? (3) Answered by (1).

A. L., Revere.

Q—In answering question No. 4, you, being a regular navy man in the service on April 6, 1917, when our break out, should give that date as your original entry in the World War service. From your service record you will no doubt be entitled to receive a 20-year paid-up insurance policy with an approximate face value of $1,000.

LEADER OF REDS WANTS CASE DROPPED

Lansing, Mich., Sept. 19.—Charles E. Ruthenberg, under conviction of a charge of violation of the Michigan anti-syndicalism act, today filed a brief with the State Supreme Court asking that his conviction be set aside.

Ruthenberg, with sixteen others, was arrested by Federal and local officers raiding a "convention of the Communist Party" near Bridgeman in August, 1922. Sixty others at the meeting, but who were not caught, were indicted with Ruthenberg and his companions.

The list includes William C. Foster, Rose Pastor Stokes, Ben Gitlow and others. Ruthenberg was convicted, and the jury in Foster's case disagreed. Foster will probably not be retried, nor will any other action follow, until the court has passed on Ruthenberg's appeal.

In his brief Ruthenberg contends that the Michigan syndicalism act is unconstitutional, and that the question involved is not so much the teachings and beliefs of the Communists as their right, or the right of any other group, to assemble peaceably.

TABLET IN HONOR OF BARTOL UNVEILED

Philadelphia, Sept. 19.—Eminent scientists of the world, gathered here in honor of the centenary of the Franklin Institute, today witnessed the unveiling of a tablet at the opening of the Bartol Research Foundation, a $1,200,000 bequest for the furtherance of scientific endeavor. Thirteen-year-old Tracica Bartol Dailey, a grandniece of the late Henry Weichman Bartol, pulled the cord releasing the purple hanging, revealing a metal memorial tablet.

KIMBALL, IN PHELPS CASE, IS TRIED FOR PERJURY

St. Albans, Vt., Sept. 19.—One more of the many echoes of the sensational Phelps-Greenwood alienation suit last Spring, sounded today in Franklin County Superior Court when J. H. Kimball, former Enosburg Falls postmaster went on perjury trial for perjury.

Kimball surprised himself with hot water through his curiosity as to why Mrs. Belle Phelps was visiting Eugene Greenwood, wealthy banker, at the hour of black night's blindness.

The State alleges Kimball gave two versions of the affair, he says and did not say. Results depend the jury's decision.

When in Rome, Be Romantic

And when in Boston, be Parisian. It is an easy matter. In fact, after September 23, you won't have much excuse for being anything but stylish. On that day, Tuesday, September 23, the Boston American will issue a section devoted to a FORECAST OF FALL FASHIONS, 1924, illustrating and describing Paris fashions as relayed to us by our own correspondent and the many Boston buyers who, returning from abroad on every boat, bring la Parisienne's final whisper about the mode.

As always, it is a changing mode. There are many new things to learn about fashionable dressing—the colors you needs must wear, the length of your skirts, the size of hats, shoes for evening and daytime wear, sports fashions and formal attire. The new materials receive due attention in this fashion section, and jewelry, scarfs and accessories are not overlooked. Better order your copy of the September 23rd Boston American today. There will be a great demand for this issue and your news dealer is likely to run short.

Being stylishly dressed needn't mean being expensively dressed. You can read the FORECAST OF FALL FASHIONS and learn how to discriminate between what is really new and what is merely a fad of the moment—authoritative styles have dignity, charm and lasting qualities not to be found in unsanctioned offerings.

Don't forget—Tuesday, September 23—FORECAST OF FALL FASHIONS, 1924—with each copy of the Boston American. Order your copy now.

3-MINUTE JOURNEYS

By Temple Manning

A MONG certain tribes in Asia Minor the matriarchal system still exists. By this system, the women of the country are given more rights, and are allowed more personal liberty, than the men.

This is not strange, in view of the fact that most of the law making is done by the women. The woman is the power in the land. Whatever she says goes, and no mere man has the least right to question her authority.

The men have practically no rights at all. They have little to say in conducting the laws or affairs of the village, and, when a man marries in Sumatra, any property or money he may have acquired during his life, is immediately forfeited, and is handed over to his wife.

His sole pleasure her family name, and has absolutely no scruples about sharing her husband with other women. Sometimes twenty or more married members of the male sex have as many as five or six wives, and as the women are not expected to do all the work, this wholesale harem is obliged to visit each wife regularly to keep her on the soil and supply whatever other work or services is necessary.

Each day, or evening day, the husband is expected as little more than part of the scenery, and is not allowed to be present during the wedding celebration which lasts several days. His absence from home is his own home and will for his bride, who will visit him on the expiration of the eight days and take him to her home.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By Dr. F. X. Mahoney
Boston Health Commissioner

WHAT is your mental age? The question is so important that its meaning ought to be very well understood.

There is a vast difference between mental age and physical age. Twenty-five years may have elapsed since a certain individual was born and yet that individual may have a mental age of only thirteen, fifteen, seventeen or some other number of years.

Dr. Mahoney

Such individuals are classified as "retarded."

On the other hand, certain children have mental developments far in advance of their calendar ages.

It is the determination of the mental ages of the individuals that characterizes one of the greatest developments of modern psychology. It was found from a large number of observations that certain mental processes are on the average characteristic of certain physical ages, and therefore are called normal. Mental capacities are now determined by practical psychologists through the employment of tests that apply to the various physical ages.

It has been said that an individual who at the various physical ages has a mental level under that age is correspondingly subnormal or feebleminded during all of his life.

These individuals are now having much done for them in our public schools, where they are placed in academic groups. There the mental characteristics of each one are studied in detail and are treated accordingly. If, therefore, your child should be placed in one of these groups, do not resent the fact, but put yourself in close contact with the teacher in an effort to solve the problem of your child's future.

QUESTIONS ANSWERED

I am very nervous, cannot sleep well and do not eat very well. What else could I take?—A. T., Boston.

We do not recommend any proprietary medicines in this column. But I would advise you to have a thorough physical examination by your physician, and if he finds nothing wrong, they would be able to determine the cause of the various symptoms of which you complain.

I have a very bad breath. Can you recommend something for it?—MRS. Wing Rockery, Chelsea.

There must be a physical cause for the trouble of which you complain. Perhaps your dentist or doctor could determine what it is and easily find a remedy for you.

Is cancer a contagious disease?—G. A. H., Medford.

No, cancer is not a contagious disease.

FINANCE

By B. C. Forbes

These two movements are underway in this country.

An increasing number of rich and well-to-do men are entering public life because they can afford to.

An increasing number of poorer men are withdrawing from public life because they cannot afford to stay in it.

Does the well being of the country suffer because of the low salaries paid by the republic?

The question should interest wage-earners just as much as business men, for anything which hurts the country, anything which cripples prosperity, is equally bad for business, labor, agriculture, all of us.

A noise is being raised in Britain because of the discovery that Ramsay MacDonald, the Prime Minister, has secured the gift from friends of $150,000 worth of shares in the great museum manufacturing concern of McVitie & Price, from its present head, Sir Alexander Grant. The explanation given is that this wealthy soul feels that he, old friend and fellow Scot should have an automobile to enable him the better to discharge his duties as Prime Minister, and, as Macdonald could not afford to maintain an automobile on his £2,200-a-year salary, his boyhood chum was glad to come to his aid.

Political opponents are making much of the fact that the donor of the automobile fund was recently made a baronet by the Prime Minister. Whether it was vote or votes of Baronet MacDonald that accept this money, the fact is that he and Grant have long been the closest of friends and that for many for years been noted for his philanthropies. Indeed, when I visited his boyhood home a few years ago, the town, Forres, in the north of Scotland, was preparing to celebrate with elaborate ceremonies the presentation of a wonderful park to the city by Sir Alexander Grant.

Incidentally, I also visited the nearby birthplace of Hannah MacDonald, Lossiemouth, and had pointed out to me the humble white-washed house where Ramsay was born.

* * *

The incident, however, raises a question which should be engaging the attention of responsible citizens at home, namely, has the time come to increase the salaries attached to the more responsible public offices in our own country?

Since the cost of living rose so tremendously the withdrawal of men of large calibre from public life has become unprecedentedly common. A number of cabinet ministers have resigned solely for financial reasons. It was because of financial reasons, for example, that the nation lost the wonderful service being rendered by Franklin K. Lane in the Department of the Interior. Governorships have been given up by able men for exactly the same reason. Some of the nation's best judges have left the bench because of their inability to provide proper financial provision for their families.

More than one worthy citizen has had offers proffered him for a public office because of lack of a private fortune sufficient to meet the demands that official position makes. A foreign capital would have installed the Colonel as the head of the financial institution, but the unsuspecting house and take care of their representatives to foreign countries. Professional men have been offered in the past because of the inadequate financial rewards offered, a matter of grave concern in view of the imperative necessity for doing everything possible to enable this country to secure business opportunities in foreign countries.

dred years ago, would have to use his brains if he came back.

WHEN THE LIGHTNING is flashing, if there is a thunder cloud above, lie flat on the ground. That's the advice of Mr. Peek, engineer of the General Electric Company. And the power of the average thunder bolt is limited to millions of volts, too much for any constitution to stand.

NEW ENGLAND'S INDUSTRIES SPREADING

By FRANK B. MELOON.
Financial Editor.

It is fitting during New England week especially to call attention to the fact that New England's industries, already more diversified than those of any other section of the nation, are spreading.

I have in mind a new addition, the New England Portland Cement & Lime Co., which is laying a cornerstone very shortly for its new plant at Rockland, Me.

Portland cement is not so named, as many believe, because of any connection with Portland, Me., but because its origin is traced to Portland, England.

Heretofore there has been no Portland cement manufactured in New England. I am told, despite the great demand for it for building purposes here. A plant of 3,000 barrels daily capacity is being planned. Situated where it can take advantage of water freight rates, a considerable advantage is expected.

R. G. Dun & Co.'s Weekly Trade Review, in this week's issue, will say regarding trade conditions in Boston:

Retail trade this week has been considerably stimulated by the advertising of "New England-Made" products, and gains in general business are numerous. Prices of yarns continue firm, although sales for local consumption are not large.

While considerable wool is being exported, woolen goods are moving slowly, the greatest activity noticeable in yarns for women's wear.

Yarns for shaker knit sweaters, ribbed sport clothes and infants' wear are in good demand. Calls for carpet mill wools are becoming more numerous, and cotton yarns are selling better, though buyers are still holding out for lower prices.

Jobbers of dry goods and men's furnishings report a pronounced improvement in activity.

Manufacturers of shoes are now receiving more orders, although they are rather small in size. Surplus stocks have been reduced, a condition that makes the situation for factory workers decidedly better.

Sole leather is now moving well, and leather prices show a slight upward tendency, as hides and skins continue active at steady quotations.

Both the textile and leather trades are buying more chemicals, and paints and varnishes as well at firm prices. Sales of brick show a slight decline, but those of cement and lime have increased.

Building lumber is rather quiet, hardwoods are in slight request, and prices of both are weak.

Contracts for building in New England in August were $20,249,200, a 7 per cent. increase over those for preceding month.

First National Bank's New England letter given out today says: "Business is better. Improved sentiment, which appeared a month or two ago, has been qualified by definite increases in activity largely seasonal, but beyond that in a comprehensive list of industries there has been a pronounced undercurrent. Some of the darkest spots, such as cotton textiles, have become less dark, while all along the line somewhat more volume at slightly better prices is being realized."

Boston Notes

BOSTON STOCK EXCHANGE proposes to raise its annual assessment on members from $100 to $150 per annum.

BOSTON & MAINE proposes to suspend services on unprofitable Ashburnham branch.

GULF REFINING has reduced price of gasoline one cent a gallon in New England territory, cash discounts being 2½ cents at filling stations and 17 cents from tank wagon.

Every used car advertised on this page has undergone a rigid inspection. The Boston American employs expert mechanics to make these tests.

Only an INSPECTED car can receive the blue certificate of inspection. It is your protection and safeguard.

If you do not see the blue Certificate of Inspection on the windshield of the car you want to buy, ask the dealer to have an inspection made. Or, telephone the Boston American, Liberty 4000. No charge nor obligation.

Cars which pass our inspection are, of course, good cars. Thus, the list below contains the pick of the USED CAR market, in Boston. All types of cars, at all prices, and all inspected.

The Boston American will help you select a Used Car Bargain. Write for free pamphlet explaining the Used Car Plan in detail.

Yes, Very Old Fashioned

But, at Least This Girl GOT A HUSBAND

This is a typical pretty girl and a dashing young "beau" along about the middle of the last century. Young girls laugh at it now. They make a mistake.

We go too far in all directions. This picture from Godey's "Lady's Book," published seventy-five years ago, shows the "exquisitely dressed young men and women of that last century."

Some people would find this "a scream," in the language of our day. They would laugh at the girl with her hoopskirt, dress dragging on the ground, funny little coattails, old-fashioned pancake hat, the little jacket and all the rest of it. Young men, needless to say, would despise the haircut, the hat and everything else about the gentleman in this picture.

BUT, these people took life seriously. The young woman didn't smoke, drink, or chew. If you cut your finger and a drop of blood appeared, she would give a pretty little scream and fall over backward.

The man was given to singing sentimental songs. And when he crossed the street with his lady, even in the old days of slow-moving horses, he would take her by the arm and almost lift her across.

But these young people married and lived quite happily. The girl didn't drink cocktails or bootleg liquor. The young man didn't have anything "on the hip," and she didn't everlastingly tell him to "step on the gas," either in reality or metaphorically.

In those old days a young woman was looked upon as a SACRED thing, to be admired at a respectful distance. She never dressed in a one-piece bathing suit, especially designed and cut short to show how fat or thin she happened to be.

This kind of costume was foolish, if you like. But it left something to the IMAGINATION. And don't overlook the fact that a good 99 per cent. of all happiness in this world is IMAGINATION.

No, Thank You Very Kindly

We Had One Arms Conference

The Administration is said to be uncertain about accepting an invitation from the League of Nations to attend an Arms Conference IN EUROPE, should one be called. It is to be hoped that the Administration will reply to such an invitation:

"You go ahead and have your Arms Conference. YOU will do the fighting. We won't; we mean to keep out of war.

"We had one conference here, and after it we were told that it was our job to protect the nations in possession of their stolen property in the Pacific Ocean and that we would not be allowed to raise the elevation of our guns, since that might make our navy too good.

"That satisfies us for the present in the way of an Arms Conference."

That would be the short, right answer to a foreign arms conference invitation.

Beware of Foreign Bonds

They Are No Investment for the Little Man

Soon readers will be urged to buy THE bonds to be issued under the Dawes agreement. They will be told that the bonds pay big interest. So they WILL while it lasts.

But this advice is given to small people.

When big financiers tell you to buy these bonds remember that they get their little rake-off on every dollar's worth of bonds sold.

If there comes a smash and the bonds are repudiated, as they may be, and as they would HAVE to be in case of another great war, the little people, NOT the big financiers, would be holding the bonds.

Three and one-half per cent. on a Government bond is a great deal better than eight per cent. on any foreign bond. Write that down.

Seeing America First

A WIFE'S MEDITATIONS

By HELEN ROWLAND

NEXT to a broken ankle, first love is probably the most painful thing in a woman's life. It is only "last love" from which she extracts any real comfort — a sad happiness.

* * *

And all the little flirtations and heartaches in between are lost Lessons in love — research in the School of Experience.

Helen Rowland

Little by little, lesson by lesson, a girl must learn:

* * *

That every woman is a love-seeker—and every man a love-dodger.

* * *

That most of a man's life is spent in praying for rain—and then wishing it would clear off; pursuing a woman—and then trying to get past her; falling in love—and then trying to crawl out of it.

* * *

That whatever a man wins easily, at cards or love, he is apt to regard as "velvet," and to throw away carelessly.

* * *

That a man's motto in love, as in politics is "Promise anything, until the campaign is won."

* * *

That it is folly for a woman to lose her beauty sleep, dreaming about a man; because the thought of NO woman ever kept a man awake nights, like the thought of going fishing next day.

* * *

That every bachelor is "lonely" and every married man "imbecile."

* * *

That nearly everything in the world, from a declaration of war to a declaration of love, depends primarily upon the state of a man's digestion.

* * *

That letter-writing is a man's pet abomination and a woman's besetting passion. And the only way to charm a man with a sentimental letter is to refrain from sending it.

* * *

That love is not an orchid, which must be tenderly cultivated, but a wild-flower, that flourishes best where it is most discouraged.

* * *

That three-quarters of a woman's love is love of conquest—and three-quarters of a man's love is love of experiment.

That woman loves to cultivate, man to subjugate; but the real art consists in never letting a man know that he is a captive, or a woman to suspect that she is a subject.

* * *

That a man's heart may have a secret sanctuary where only one woman may enter—but, it is full of little inter-rooms, which are seldom vacant.

* * *

That, to a woman last year's love is a flower in the book of memory—but to a man it is about as interesting as last year's almanac.

* * *

That the only way to find happiness in love, is to take it, like medicine or religion, with blind faith—and a little philosophy.

* * *

That love is not ALL; there is to life—but, to a woman, it's the plot, the theme, the incidental music and the climax.

THE RHYMING OPTIMIST

By Aline Michaelis

THE joy of all the world is mine today, the wind's soft kiss, the ocean's shining spray, and then, after the evening star with silver shafts moves the purple bay. The freedom of the gull's uplifted wing; of waves that dash and break; and, breaking, sing; of sea and air, this, too, I share, its sounding echoes through my spirit ring. The peace of all the sunset world descends into my soul as daylight slowly ends, while stars grow bright through deepening night where far above the sky's vast splendor bends. For all day long the joy of toil is mine, a joy that courses through the veins like wine; with rapture sweet my pulses beat to know I weave a thread in life's design.

So know, however humble is my place, that, out of all the ways of time and space, by law devine this task is mine, for me alone by gift of boundless grace. And then at eve, while shadows creep along, and all the purple air is sweet with song, comes toil's surcease, comes rest and peace, the scheme of things glows fair and free from wrong. So, when the flooding tide comes rolling in and twilight's splendid pageantries begin on sea and shore, my being's core is thrilled, for all the universe is kin. Today the joy of all the world is mine, of birds that sing, of rose and columbine, the mystery of sky and sea . . . all snared within one intricate design!

Family in Distress

Helping Hand Editor:

Will you please see if you can get help for a family who are very much in need? The poor father has been an invalid for several years and the mother is now all run down trying to keep things going. There is one boy, age 17 years, and one dear little girlie, age 10, who has just recovered from a very serious operation. She is in the hospital now and very lonely. She wants someone to write to her and send her something to amuse her. If someone living in Worcester would visit her, it would be very kind of them as the mother lives in Springfield and must work every day and cannot see her very often. If someone could visit the mother and father and offer a little sunshine, I am sure it would be greatly appreciated. I will make over or fix anything for them anytime.

PERSONAL CREED FOR BUSINESS MEN

By DR. FRANK CRANE

AT the meeting of the advertising men from all over the world, held sometime ago in London, a "Personal Creed for Business Men" was adopted.

It seemed to express the obligations to be assumed by all attending members of the various clubs.

It is not a bad sort of a creed to be adopted by business men everywhere. It is one indication that business is getting out of the region of mere sharp practice and is becoming a profession, in which those engaged in it are conscious of their duties and responsibilities and anxious to discharge them. The Association of Advertisers declared:

Believing that the peace and happiness of mankind lie in some form of international concert, and that a great force in promoting human brotherhood is to be found in advertising, the Associated Advertising Clubs of the World acclaim and publish the following code of ethics for all those engaged in the business of advertising. We pledge ourselves:

"1—To dedicate our efforts to the cause of better business and social service.

"2—To seek the truth and to live it.

"3—To tell the advertising story simply and without exaggeration, and to avoid even the tendency to mislead.

"4—To refrain from unfair and competitive criticism.

"5—To promote better international understanding based upon a recognition of our mutual responsibilities and our independence.

"6—To conserve for ourself and for posterity, ideals of conduct and standards of advertising practice born of the belief that truthful advertising builds both character and good business."

This is in line with the general keynote of the Convention which was, "Truth in Advertising."

It was based upon the appreciation of the fact that no business can continue to thrive which is not based upon verity and that all shady dealing and unfairness is unprofitable in the long run, and that every principle of conduct, except honesty, and uprightness, eventually defeats itself.

WHY THE JAPANESE DWARF TREES

By Garrett P. Serviss

Famous Astronomer and Writer on Scientific Topics of Popular Interest.

THE oldest nations are the most childish, but to say that is not to speak disrespectfully of them. There is probably more of the pure essence of humanity in the child than in the adult, and the Founder of Christianity averred that only by becoming as little children could men render themselves fit for the higher life.

We may take China's word for it that she is the oldest of nations, for while the claim may not be true by the test of time it is true by test of immutability. And where is the child's type of mind more fully displayed by adult life than in China?

To take a curious instance, consider the singular art of cultivating dwarf trees, which originated in China, though the Japanese, with their genius of imitation, have also developed it, and have done more than the Chinese would ever have done, or desired to do, to set its products before the world. In ancient times only the emperors and the great nobles could own dwarf trees in China. The processes by which the growth of the trees was arrested were carefully guarded secrets.

But now many collections of these strange-looking dwarfs of the vegetable world exist in China, Indo-China and Japan. The production of these tiny specimens of oaks, pines, bamboos and other trees, which though but a few inches high, have all the forms and characteristics of their fully grown relatives, and often live to an equal age, is the result of a play of the imagination resembling that in which the author of "Gulliver's Travels" indulged when he wrote his story of the miniature kingdom of Lilliput and its minuscule inhabitants.

While many of the uses to which the dwarf trees are put in China signify their association with religious ideas and family worship, yet the forms in which they are displayed show that the underlying motive for their production is that of a child's interest in toy imitations of the great world around. The desire for these things takes its rise in a compartment of the brain which for many of us becomes completely closed after adult years are attained, but whose door is sometimes thrown open again in the evening of life.

It originates from the instinctive tendency to get things down to manageable dimensions, so that they can be easily seen and grasped in their entirety. It is a child's characteristic: the wish to seize and handle everything—even to the moon in the sky!

The human spirit is not naturally humble; there is no humility about a child, but, on the contrary, with it the feeling of mastery dominates. It believes everything to be subject to its dominion, and it likes to have great, large, things placed before it in minimized dimensions, so that it can indulge its innate tendency to domineer. In its toys it sees the world at its feet. It laughs exultantly while it mauls them at its will. That laugh is an impulsive expression of the masterful human spirit as it awakens, yet untamed, in this world.

How thoroughly play-like is the enjoyment produced by the Chinese collections of dwarf trees may be understood from a description of one in a house in Indo-China. It consists of an imitation mountain a few feet high, completely covered with several species of the dwarfs arranged in climbing forests, amidst which appears miniature terraces and cliffs bearing little pagodas, whose summits rise realistically out of the mass of tiny foliage, together with perfectly formed little houses and bridges thrown across diminutive chasms, while in tiny gardens moss-covered grottoes are seen, with statues scattered about.

Indeed, it is a bit of a real Chinese Lilliput, but so small that Gulliver could have planted one foot on each side of the mountain. And these things are held in great honor and admiration on that crowded Eastern slope of the globe.

ONCE-OVERS

DO NOT INTENSIFY UNHAPPINESS BY EMPHASIZING ITS MISERIES

Much is said these days about "social service workers" and how every one should try to be kind and helpful to those they employ and by personal association try and make the workers better and better every day.

But in your work of this sort, if you only make persons dissatisfied with conditions which they cannot change, you have added to the unhappiness and unrest of the world instead of helping to better things.

Why recommend the best hotel in town to a man out of work and no money?

The only place that man can afford may be a very unlivitng one. Is it then wise to enlarge to him its disagreeable features?

Your friend in the suburbs may be able to afford only a seven by nine hall bedroom, next to the roof, though it is in the fresh air district. Then should you continually prate about the fashionable resorts and the features which make them more desirable?

If you cannot better a person's condition, do not enumerate his or her disadvantages.
